Art and Literary Fest

“Our truest response to the irrationality of the world is to paint or sing or write for only in such response do we find truth.”-Madeleine L' Engle

As the grey clouds drifted apart to allow in the winter sun to peep through, our happiness knew no bounds for our children were all ready to venture out to soak in the sunshine and give vent to their creative genius. This day was 18 February 2020, a day very clearly etched out as the day of the maiden Art and Literary Fest 2020.

Children from classes IV to VIII were divided into categories based on their class and given themes on which they could either compose a poem or a short story or could convey their ideas through colours and sketch. The football field, the basketball court and the volleyball court were the venues for the children to sit, relax and express their thoughts and opinions on the given themes, much as the music played in the background added in soothing the environment. The work they thus produced, reflected their matured vision in both the forms- art and literature.

This day was lived to the fullest not just by the children but also by their teachers as they worked hand-in-hand in participating alongside the students. It was great fun and pleasure to watch the teachers sharing space and stationery kit with the students.

The same format was followed in the Junior school for classes I, II and III on 9th March 2020. A number of activities were conducted which included:- Drawing for Class - I, Collage for Class- II & Mask Making for Class - III. Students of classes II & III also participated in composing poems and stories on the theme 'SPRING'. The event was an enriching, eye opening one which uncovered children to the beauty of English Literature and Art. A few teachers also participated in composing poems, stories and art. Overall, it was a great learning experience for the students as well as teachers. Since every activity in school is conceived and designed with the growth of students in mind, this activity too ensured to motivate the students and teachers alike, in the form of prizes in each category.
